THE ANNUAL ADVANCE SALE

—OF—

Blankets and Bedding.

Months ago, when the tariff bill was but a matter of conjecture, we placed our orders for Blankets, at the prices then prevailing—prices that proved to be the very lowest on record. Ever since then prices have been advancing, until today, they are nearly 30 per cent higher.

We propose to give our patrons the benefit of our early purchases, by offering in this sale Blankets of the very fine grades at prices that will never again be possible when the present supply has been exhausted.

JAPAN'S PLOTTING.

Secretly Seeks Control of the Nicaragua Canal.

The State Department Has been Watching the Movements of the Plucky Little Nation.

New York, Sept. 2.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Japan not content with an interference with President McKinley's Hawaiian annexation policy, now has designs upon the Nicaragua canal. According to semi-official advices just received here from Nicaragua, the Japanese government is secretly negotiating with the diet of the greater republic of Central America, which recently met in Salvador, for the construction of the Nicaraguan canal, independent and in defiance of the interests and influence of the United States or other nations. The action of Japan, taken in connection with her recent attitude in regard to the Hawaiian annexation, is of the greatest significance, showing, as it does, to the authorities that there is no limit to the ambition of the nation, and her aggressive policy may yet get her into trouble with the United States. That the administration will not sanction any interference with the Nicaragua canal project, as it did in the case of the Hawaiian annexation treaty, goes without saying. If Japan can encompass it, according to the Nicaraguan advices received here, she would like to obtain the abrogation of all treaty rights pertained by the United States in relation to inter-oceanic transit and the protectorate of the American canal commission for Nicaragua and to immediately make a treaty with the diet of the greater republic of Central America, giving her control of the great route through Nicaragua. In the negotiations Costa Rica has not been consulted, it being well known that she would not assent to a violation of a treaty right. It has been suspected in some quarters that England, which has always been anxious to acquire at least a joint control of the canal, might be working in collusion with Japan in the "dickering" with the diet now understood to be in progress, but nothing has yet come to the surface to indicate that she has encouraged Japan in the move. It is said at agent of the Nicaragua canal here has told the facts before Mr. Hitchcock, the president of the Canal company in New York, with the suggestion that the state department be apprised of the secret negotiations that are now being carried on between Japan and the diet. Senor Zelaya, the president of Nicaragua, it is understood, has admitted to close personal friends that Japan is negotiating with the diet, but in such case he advised the strictest secrecy.

A private letter just received in this city from Nicaragua says: "Among Americans in Central America the belief is general that the Greater Republic of Central America, which is representative in its diplomatic affairs by a diet composed of three members (one each from Nicaragua, Salvador and Honduras), was organized principally in order that Nicaragua might absolve herself from individual responsibility as a nation and thereby abrogate her inter-oceanic transit treaty with the United States. The so-called greater republic, remaining the full master of the United States to recognize the greater republic (or receiving Senor Rodriguez as minister) and in failing to accredit a United States minister to the greater republic, is likely to try and make a treaty with Japan, granting her concessions for the construction of the canal."

The United States minister here believes that when that news reaches Washington the state department will send a note to Japan asking if she is seeking to interfere with our treaty rights in the premises. The Americans in Nicaragua believe the United States government will insist that her inter-oceanic treaties with Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Colombia are yet in force, although the diet claims that Nicaragua and Honduras are no longer sovereign and individual nations and are therefore free to annihilate. Although state department officials will not admit that any information has yet come through official channels to confirm private advices on the subject, there are reasons for believing that the authorities have been watching Japan's action in Central America with more or less suspicion for some time past.

SHE WAS A CORKER.

Should be a Keeley, But is Now a Wheeler.

Miss Cork, of Milwaukee, Suddenly Changes Her Mind as to the Man She Must Marry.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 2.—Frank Keeley, of Chicago, and Miss Ellen May Cork were engaged to be married in this city last evening at the home of the bride's parents, 828 Wright street, but almost at the last moment an old rival of the Chicago lover stepped upon the scene, and Miss Cork is now his wife.

For a number of years Miss Cork had been receiving the attentions of Albert Wheeler, of this city, to whom she appeared to be devotedly attached. Some time ago she met Frank Keeley and the Chicago man captivated her affections, and the marriage of the couple was announced to take place yesterday afternoon.

Tuesday night Miss Cork went with a number of friends to the theatre, and there met Wheeler. When the time for departure arrived they announced that they had decided to become husband and wife. The couple and their friends aroused Justice McWhorter from his slumbers and he performed the ceremony.

The Chicago lover was informed by telegraph that his contemplated trip to Milwaukee would be in vain and he did not make his appearance.

CAMPS ARE QUIET.

Miners in the DeArmit Region Awaiting Events.

Women Preparing for a Massacre Should Operators and Miners Be Forced Conference at Columbus.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—Everything was quiet about the striking miners' camps in the DeArmit region today, the rampers having decided to take things easy pending definite news from Columbus in regard to the proposed settlement of the strike. The sentiment of the whole camp seems to be to resist any settlement except on an unqualified sixty-nine cent basis. The general talk among the men shows no discouragement as yet. On all sides was heard the opinion that the operators are being hard pushed in the matter of holding contracts and getting into deeper straits every day. The morning missionary work of the campers has come to be the same mild conflict between the strikers and deputies.

Some of them are turned back regularly, and some get through the lines to execute their mission. The scenes at Plum Creek are arresting for the biggest parade they have yet held, and they expect to march to Plum Creek tipple this afternoon at 2 o'clock. They will parade from just below Camp Isolation. Fully 150 of them are expected to march, and the Banksville band will lead the parade.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 2.—The coal operators who were to meet the coal miners' executive committee today met them at 9:30 a. m. within closed doors. All were present for the respective sides. The miners' officials declined to foreshadow any proposed movement in case of a refusal to accept the operators' proposition to open the mines at 64 cents per ton, pending arbitration. They were willing to talk of general matters, and nothing else, except that they want the agreement today, if any, to hold good for a year.

On the other hand the operators feel very hopeful, in fact very confident, that the miners' officials will accept and refer the 64 cent rate to their constituents. The operators are willing to make reasonable concessions, which may cover a period of twelve months.

WHEAT ADVANCES.

Again Makes a Reach for the Dollar Mark.

Foreign Takeovers and Light Receipts Conspire With Bad Reports From the Northwest, to Do Business.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Wheat opened very strong today, December starting at 95c½, an advance of 1½c, over yesterday's closing figures. The Liverpool market was the over shadowing influence, that market starting at an advance ranging from 2½ to 2¾d, while 1:30 p. m. cables showed a further 1½@1¾d advance. Paris also showed marked strength, being up 4½ cents per bushel. Northwest receipts were light, 314 cars against 196 last week and 567 a year ago.

There was sufficient realizing at the opening advance to cause a reaction to 94½c. There was practically no wheat for sale after the opening offerings were absorbed and the market quickly reacted, December closing up to 96c before another turning point was reached. The trade became broader as the session progressed, with a good outside business. December eased off to 95½c and reacted again to 95¾c.

There was a rather excited opening in corn, with prices 1@2c higher than yesterday's close. Scattered showers, reported in the corn belt, brought no general relief and a cold wave is threatened in the northwest. Cables were up sharply. Receipts were heavy, 1,584 cars. A heavy business was done and the market held very firm. December opened at 23½c, advanced to 23¾c, and reacted to 23½c.

Oats as usual were quiet at the opening, but shared in the general firmness. Most of the early advance was lost later on realizings. Receipts were 318 cars. December opened ½c higher, at 21c, sold at 21c 21½c and reacted to 20¾c.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Wheat—Sept., 95c; Dec., 94½@c, old 97½c; May, 94½c.

Corn—Sept., 30½@c; Dec., 31½c; Dec., 32½@32¾c; May, 35½@36c.

Oats—Sept., 19c; Dec., 20½@c; May, 23½@c.

Pork—Sept., $8 90; Oct., $8 95; Dec., $9 02; Jan., $9 90.

Lard—Sept., $4 65; Oct., $4 87; Jan., $4 85; Jan., $5 10.

Ribs—Sept., $5 70; Oct., $5 67½; Dec., $5 10; Jan., $3 12.

AWAITING WEYLER.

Nothing Can be Done for Him Clisneros at Present.

He is Reticent as a Million-Worker Now Demanding the Cuban Crown Not to See Fighting.

Havana, Sept. 2.—If the Duke of Tetuan's order for the removal of Evangelina Cassio Cisneros from the Recogidas to convent has been received here, which the authorities will not admit, no action has yet been taken. According to precedent, nothing will be done until General Weyler returns from the field. The date of his return is uncertain. In the meantime there is no danger that the girl will be harshly dealt with. It would appear that her release from prison is only a question of time. Evangelina does not wish to go to a convent. Her desire is to face her accusers in open court. She still remembers that she has a sweetheart, and she is very anxious concerning her father's fate. She is as comfortably situated now as can be while in a Spanish prison. She is well dressed, has her meals sent from a restaurant, and is afforded private view. There is a fortune lying in chancery here to which she has a better claim than anybody else. It is not publicly alleged that any official is trying to cheat her of her inheritance, but the matter will be investigated. The fortune amounts to $1,000,000.

Five thousand of proud Spain's soldiers, commanded by blue-blooded Castilian officers, down on their knees pulling up sweet potato vines, is not an edifying spectacle, yet that is what General Weyler and his troops are doing since they left the capital last Sunday. General Weyler's idea is to cut off the food supply of the rebels. From the outskirts of Havana to Taguate, where he is at present, General Weyler has cut a swath of destruction. Every horse and cow in sight has been seized and growing crops uprooted. Some military commanders would simplify matters by destroying the rebels first, but that is not Weyler's plan.

ANDREWS' VICTORY.

Brown University Wants Him to Come Back.

He is Unanimously Asked by the Corporation to Withdraw His Resignation, and He Will.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 2.—President Andrews has come out of his fight with the corporation of Brown university with flying colors. The corporation has asked him to withdraw his resignation and has distinctly stated that it never intended to curtail or deny his "reasonable liberty of utterance."

It is thought that the incident is closed and that President Andrews will continue his duties as head of the university.

All day yesterday the corporation had considered the problem before it, how to preserve the good name of the university and retreat with dignity from the unpopular position into which it had plunged. As a preliminary to the love feast destined to follow, Congressman Walker, who started the crusade against Dr. Andrews, was the first to betray weakness. He met Dr. Andrews just before the meeting opened and was effusive in his wishes for the health of Andrews' family. They chatted pleasantly about ten minutes, entering the morning room arm in arm.

The first business before the corporation, after the re-election of old officers, was the report of the special committee appointed at the last meeting of the corporation to confer with President Andrews on the best interests of the university. This committee reported through Dean Wayland, of the Yale law school. The report was in substance contained in previous publications regarding this affair and contained the correspondence that led up to President Andrews' resignation.

FRENZIED COW

Almost Tramples George Ferguson to Death.

While in the Act of Feeding the Animal in Pasture He is Made the Victim of a Vicious Attack.

George Ferguson, who resides near the organ factory in South Wayne, while leading a cow to pasture this morning, was fiercely attacked by the animal and nearly trampled to death. Angered by the barking of a dog the cow turned upon Mr. Ferguson, knocking him over and kicking him. The man was so severely injured that he could not walk and he had to be carried to his home. Dr. Enslen found that one shoulder was fractured and other injuries received which will confine the man to the house for some time to come.

An Accountant's Invention.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 2.—Accountant Leo Stevens has successfully tested his new generator for manufacturing gas for his balloon. He says he will leave for the Klondike the latter part of this month. Stevens also declares he will go to Andree's rescue provided his later experiments are successful.

Shiffler News: "It May Hull man, superintendent for the Fort Wayne Gas company, has all of the twelve boilers at the pumping station in place and next week will have them fired up for testing. An electric light plant is expected to arrive in a few days and the boilers of the boilers will be fired up in about two weeks to furnish power for the dynamo. The remainder of the work is to be pushed rapidly and two gangs of men will be at work, one at and one at night and the electric light plant will furnish light by which they will work."

SULLIVAN.

Nebraska Silverites Settle Their Controversy.

Have a Special Battle They Decide Who Must Head the Ticket This Year.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 2.—After several unsuccessful attempts to agree upon a candidate for supreme judge according to the propositions submitted in the report of the conference committee, at 2:30 o'clock this morning, the three conventions took a recess at 3:30 and reconvened at six o'clock. Each convention immediately took a ballot, which resulted in the democrats unanimously agreeing upon W. H. Thompson, the populists unanimous upon Judge William Neville, and the silver republicans vote being widely scattered, with Judge C. H. Scott having the lead.

The populists recital of the Lansing theatre having expired at midnight, they found themselves barred out this morning and have convened in the state capitol.

Judge Thompson met Judge Scott in the populist convention and both shook hands.

"Well, how do you feel?" inquired the former.

"Yes, you and the populists can get together, but how about the silver republicans?" answered Judge Scott.

"That contract was made in good faith with 'your party,'" rejoined Judge Thompson, "and let's you and I be big enough men to get out of the field when a deadlock is made."

Both separated without further words.

Later the democrats reconsidered their vote on Thomasan and agreed upon Judge J. J. Sullivan. This action was made with the hope that one of the other conventions would agree upon Sullivan, resulting in nomination and fusion but this action was declared not final and the democrats are willing to accede another man if it is necessary for fusion.

At noon today the deadlock in the three state silver conventions was broken by the silver republicans agreeing upon Judge J. J. Sullivan, of Columbus, the democratic nominee. The populists then also agreed upon Sullivan.

LOCAL LINES.

A NEW MOVE.

Congress May be Called for a Special Session

To Consider the Cuban Situation—President McKinley is Said to Favor Action if Spain is Stubborn.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Congress called in special session to consider the Cuban situation is the probable outcome of Minister Woodford's mission in Madrid. A prompt rejection on the part of Spain of the offer of friendly mediation which he will bear will bring about the inevitable message to congress.

General Woodford's instructions are to leave no doubt in the minds of the Spanish government as to the attitude which President McKinley has been compelled by the logic of events to assume toward the Cuban rebellion.

The inference will be equally plain to the Spanish mind that the rejection of the offer which he bears will be followed by immediate steps on the part of the administration to protect the remnant of American interests so long neglected and permitted to suffer the fortunes and circumstances of a destructive warfare.

President McKinley knows that he would be held responsible for any advantage which delay should give to Spain, so should Spain reject his offer he would probably take the necessary precaution of calling congress in immediate session.

Even more, should Spain's reply be favorable, a situation is not impossible in which congressional action might be necessary in guaranteeing an indemnity, in providing for an international commission of arbitration, or in approval of whatever other scheme might be submitted to bring the Cuban difficulty to an end.

THE TROUBLE GROWS.

Disaffection on the Indian Frontier is Spreading.

Bombay, Sept. 2.—Many new cases of disaffection are reported from various points along the Indian frontier.

Military movements are reported from many places and rapid progress is made in the organization of the punitive expeditions being sent against the insurgent tribesmen.

General Gaselee's advance of troops from Peshawur has arrived safely at Kohat without having met with any opposition on the part of the insurgents. The Afridis, according to the latest reports, have apparently left the Khyber pass.

The British post at Gearilund, Beloochistan, which was held by native levies, was attacked on Sunday night last by a number of Brahins, who murdered and robbed the levies and some travelers who had sought refuge there.

Madras, Sept. 2.—An outbreak is reported among the Moplahs, of fanatical Mohammedans, of the Malabar coast. It has not yet assumed serious proportions. Malabar is a district of India in the Madras presidency and on the west coast of India, but the term Malabar coast is also applied to the west coast of India in general.

Repairing Tire Punctures.

Some American bicycle riders do not know that European riders long ago discarded all but double-tube pneumatic bicycle tires. This was done after years of experience with single tube tires, during which time every known remedy was tried to permanently repair a puncture, but without avail. In this country, the Morgan & Wright double-tube tire being patented, other tire makers have tried to force single tube tires into favor, notwithstanding their proved failure in Europe. Many schemes have been employed by the single tube makers to stop leaks and permanently repair punctures, but without success.

A repair in the Morgan & Wright double-tube tire is easy to make and is permanent. Inside the inner tube, all the way around, is a thin strip of patching rubber. To make a repair, pump up the tire; then inject some quick repair cement inside the inner tube. By pressing down on the casing with the thumb at the puncture this cement will pick up the patching strip and close the puncture.

WHOLESALE PARDON

Recommended by Governor Atkinson When a New Standard.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept 2.—Governor Atkinson has intimated that if the county authorities do not take immediate steps to release the illegally incarcerated convicts he will exercise the clemency lodged by a wholesale pardon.

It is the duty of the grand jurors of the different counties to act in this matter, but as they have failed to do so for years the only alternative left is for the governor to exercise his pardoning power.

It is hoped that the threat of such action will free the grand jurors to do their duty, which will relieve the governor from an unpleasant predicament.

ANNUAL SESSION.

Anglaise Conference of the U. B. Church in Decatur.

A Warm Welcome Extended to a Large Gathering of Delegates—The Fort Wayne District.

The forty-fifth annual session of the Anglaise conference of the United Brethren in Christ was held at Decatur, Ind., August 26 to 31. Bishop J. W. Hott, D. D. LL. D., of Dayton, Ohio, presiding. There were in attendance about 250 visitors, ministers, lay delegates and others.

The citizens of Decatur are noted for hospitality, and they gave a hearty welcome to all. Mayor Quinn gave an excellent address of welcome to which Rev. W. Z. Roberts of Ossian, responded. The ministers of the city attended in a body and carried their greetings spoken by Rev. J. F. Horton of the Presbyterian church. Bishop Hott complimented the people and the ministers for the manifestation of brotherly love which was evident from their attendance. Rev. W. H. Shepherd, pastor of the U. B. church, and his people were prepared to entertain, which they did royally. Everyone left feeling that the people of Decatur were progressive—seen in the streets, that there were too many weeds; public ownership of waterworks and electric plant, and the good character of the officers—kind and loyal to the interests of good citizenship.

Some of the special features of the session were an edifying sermon by Rev. M. R. Drury, D. D., of Dayton, Ohio; an address by Rev. I. L. Kephart, D. D., of the Religious Telescope; two lectures by Rev. U. A. Funkhouser, D. D., senior professor in Union Biblical seminary; a lecture by Bishop Hott, on "Claims of the Ministry on the Church," and a sermon preached by the bishop Sunday morning, in the M. E. church. Perhaps 1,500 people listened to this eloquent sermon.

Revs. S. M. Lewly, J. A. Kek and A. Kissel were ordained.

Rev. A. W. Ballinger was re-elected to Fort Wayne, and also elected trustee of Otterbein university, Westerville, Ohio, for a term of six years.

The standing committee reported in part as follows:

Fort Wayne district.

Rev. W. Z. Roberts, Ossian, presiding elder.

Decatur station, W. H. Shepherd.
Decatur Circuit, C. T. Betts.
Ossian, S. M. Lewly.
Toona, J. A. Hoffman.
St. Marys, Allie Pipe.
Geneva, J. Miller, jr.
Portland, J. D. Lash.
Nottingham, H. D. Meeds.
Dunkirk, E. Bolline.
Red Key, J. I. Kline.
Saratoga, E. Counseller.
Pleasant Grove, J. F. Miller.
Rose Hill, A. Kissel.
Montezuma, L. C. Reed.

T. A. Johnson was transferred from this district to Lima district and stationed at Delphos, Ohio.

This session will long be remembered as one of the best in the history of this conference. The reports showed a substantial increase in membership and many predict a more prosperous future.

GRAVE CHARGES.

Caroline Lichtsinn Asks the Courts for a Divorce.

Says Her Husband is a Drunkard and That He Beat and Choked Her—Court News.

If all is true that Caroline Lichtsinn alleges in her complaint for divorce, her husband, Henry Lichtsinn, is about as bad as they turn out to be. Her complaint was filed in the superior court by her attorneys, Bittinger & Clapham, this afternoon. The complaint sets forth that the parties were married in 1891 and separated in August, 1896. She alleges that he is habitual drunkard, that he beat and choked her, once knocked her down with a chair and threatened to kill her. He is also alleged to have been improperly intimate with a woman named Mrs. ——— Schultz. The couple have seven children, the oldest sixteen and the youngest six years old. Mrs. Lichtsinn says her husband on a recent occasion took his son Frederick into a saloon and gave him beer in view of those alleged facts she asks for divorce, custody of the children and $4,000 alimony.

TRAINING SCHOOL.

New Feature of the Fort Wayne Public Schools.

Miss Jessie B. Montgomery Appointed Teacher—Requirements for Entering the Training Department.

With the opening of the public schools one week from next Monday a new feature, long needed, will become a part of the school system of Fort Wayne. It will be a training school. The board of trustees has felt the need of better preparation of those who enter schools as teachers and it has also been desired that such a department be opened to enable those who from lack of means are deprived from obtaining such an education. One of the requirements for teaching has been that the applicant shall have taken a course of study in one of the state normal or other established training schools. The new training school will be a part of the schools and will be free to all persons who are entitled to the free tuition of the public schools.

Superintendent Study announces that Miss Jessie B. Montgomery, a graduate of the state normal at Terre Haute, has been appointed as teacher of this department. She is highly qualified for the place, having for some years been a successful teacher in the graded schools of Indiana and was for a time critic teacher in the Michigan state normal at Ypsilanti, Mich. The location of the new school has not been fully decided, but the Lakeside building is the most favorably considered at present and will probably be selected.

The requirements of admissions are these: All persons graduated from the Fort Wayne High school, and persons graduated from other schools of equal grade, or others residing in the district who have received an equivalent examination, will be admitted without examination. All other applicants must pass an entrance examination with an average standing of 70 per cent. on every subject.

The course of instruction will include the general principles of education, in educational psychology, school management and the history of education, together with a thorough study of the best methods of teaching the various subjects taught in connection with the graded courses of study. It will include observation of the work of teachers in the school, followed by practice teaching. Special teachers will give instruction to pupil teachers in the special branches one hour every week.

BAPTISTS COMING

To Attend a Big District Meeting in This City.

Twenty-ninth Anniversary of the Fort Wayne Baptist Association—Sunday School Convention.

A meeting of considerable importance will be held at the First Baptist church beginning Tuesday, the 14th inst., and closing the following Thursday. It is the twenty-ninth anniversary of the Fort Wayne Baptist association, together with the Baptist Young People's union and Sunday school convention of the churches of that denomination in this district. Delegates from Columbia City, Larwill, Warsaw, Huntington and other places will be present.

On Tuesday the program will consist of reports of Sunday schools, election of officers, Home class department, addresses, songs and praise services and miscellaneous business.

The following day several interesting subjects will be given, among them "Echoes From Pine Lake," by Pastor L. L. Henson, who spent a part of the summer at the assembly there. On Wednesday evening Rev. A. E. Mather will explain the purposes of the Home for Aged Baptist Ministers.

After the morning session on Thursday the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Circles will hold their annual meeting in the lecture room. Miss Ayres, a returned missionary from Mandalay, Burmah, Mrs. M. L. Jeffry, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. N. S. Leslie, of Muncie, will address the meeting.

CONCERT NIGHT.

Excellent Program Prepared for Business Lark Tomorrow Evening.

Tomorrow evening will occur the regular weekly band concert at Robison park. The following excellent program has been arranged for the occasion:

PART I.

[illegible]

PART II.

[illegible]

Recent Breaking Deadlock.

Waterloo, Iowa, Sept. 2.—The recent breaking deadlock in the tenth district republican senatorial convention was broken yesterday in the nomination of Colonel D. J. Palmer. He was chosen by acclamation on motion of W. F. Kopp, his opponent for re-election. Henry county.

CANAL WATER

Does Not Contaminate the City's Water Supply.

So Says Mr. McDonald, the Waterworks Trustee—He So Answers the People of Fort Wayne.

At a joint meeting of the water, works and finance committees and the waterworks trustees last night, the question was put to E. T. McDonald, of the board of trustees, "Has the canal water been turned into the city water mains the past summer, or is it now being used to assist in furnishing a supply?" Mr. McDonald replied emphatically that canal water had not been used nor is it now flowing into the pipes. To a large number of people who have been exercised over the report that the city water was being contaminated by canal water this will be welcome news.

Recent Breaking Deadlock.

Waterloo, Iowa, Sept. 2.—The recent breaking deadlock in the tenth district republican senatorial convention was broken yesterday in the nomination of Colonel D. J. Palmer. He was chosen by acclamation on motion of W. F. Kopp, his opponent for re-election. Henry county.

L. B. ROOT IS DEAD.

Summons Came to Him at New York.

Was One of Fort Wayne's Pioneer Merchants—Other Deaths and Funerals.

E. C. Barnes, of Root & Co., received a telegram at 11 o'clock this morning stating that L. B. Root, the senior member of the firm, died at 4 o'clock this morning, at his apartments in the Fifth avenue hotel, New York city. Death was caused by typhoid fever.

This announcement will cause general regret and sorrow, for Mr. Root was one of Fort Wayne's most prominent merchants, although not a citizen. He was the founder of the business of Root & Co. in 1860, having two years previous to that time opened a similar business at Terre Haute. Both enterprises flourished from the time of their inception and are today regarded as being foremost in the dry goods business of Indiana. Mr. Root was the eastern buyer for both of these establishments. He resided in New York, to be at the big markets, in person, but he frequently visited in Fort Wayne and Terre Haute. He was a man of shrewd business ability, had a pleasing personality and was generous in his thoughts and his deeds. His age was about sixty-two years.

The relatives in this city of Mr. Root are Mrs. Mary Ewing and Miss Sweetser. Mrs. Ewing left this afternoon for New York, and it is supposed that the remains will be shipped here for interment, although this is not certain. Mr. Root's parents were buried at Brookside, Mass., and there is a possibility that his remains will also be interred there.

Other Deaths.

Joseph Henry, a well known farmer of St. Joe township, died yesterday afternoon after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his loss. The deceased was born in St. Joe township and spent his entire life on the old homestead. He was thirty-one years of age. About a year ago he took sick, a complication of diseases resulting. Many physicians, and last spring he was brought to the St. Joseph hospital and an operation was performed. The beneficial results were only temporary and he soon began to decline, and his death yesterday terminated several months' severe suffering. The aged father of the deceased, Frank Henry, survives, with the following brothers, John G., of St. Joe township; Frank and Peter, of Jefferson township, and Julius, foreman in the Pennsylvania shops in this city. Mr. Henry was a prosperous farmer and a very popular man. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon from the house at 1 o'clock and later from St. John's church at New Haven.

Mrs. Kate Sukop, wife of Peter Sukop, of the Pittsburg shops, died this morning of typhoid fever, at her home, 27 Lasalle street. She was twenty-four years old, and leaves besides the husband, one child. The funeral will be held Saturday at 8 o'clock a. m., from St. Peter's Catholic church.

The funeral of George Howard will take place Friday at 2 p. m. from the residence of Mrs. Bellamy, on Cass street.

MR. HARRITY seems to have been the chief issue of the Pennsylvania democrats.

THE sheriff of Allegheny county, Pa., is not the first man to fail to keep the women at home.

THE talk of a general sympathetic strike to force a settlement of the miners troubles is worse than folly. What the miners need is cash and food and workingmen can help them best by contributions.

THE people of this city will read with pleasure the intention of the board of public works to spend one reasonable sums of money in the improvement of Swinney park next year. It has natural advantages from which easily the finest park in the state may be created.

A LEADING physician of Monticello, this state, has provided for his own appearance in the United States courts by donning a patent through the nose or less public medium of a postal card. The doctor should employ a telephone next time. It's more horrible. Moreover, it's lawful.

A CASS county hermit declares that the site of the garden of Eden was in that neck of the woods. He exhibits a peculiarly shaped stone which he says is the head of the serpent which wrought the ruin of our common mother. He will doubtless send some to the front with the apple which Eve reared Adam to take.

REV. DR. HARRAN, who yesterday became vice president of the Pennsylvania university strenuously denounces the boycott for use by women. He reminds his objections on numerous grounds, declaring that it is one of the most infantile exercises ever invented concerning the gentler sex. It takes the young woman from home and is a distinct, he says, its tendencies are altogether wrong and often result in the downfall of the maiden. In his judgment it affords an easy means of escape from the restrictions of conventionality and is harmful from a hygienic standpoint.

BY the rubber theater guess of this city the death of Mrs. John Drew will be heard with regret. Mrs. Drew had passed her seventieth year and that she had not long since retired from the stage was constantly a subject of comment. She was an actor of rare talents and culture and will be long remembered for the consummate art of her "Lady Teazle" and "Mrs. Malaprop." For many years she had been with Mr. Joseph Jefferson's company and her last appearance in this city was several years ago in support of Mr. Jefferson and Mr. Florence's superb production of "The Rivals." Mrs. Drew was born in London in 1820 and six years later made her first stage appearance. She died Tuesday afternoon at Larchmont, near New York.

FOR some days the newspapers have been filling considerable space with accounts of the uprisings of the Afridis and their attacks on the British outposts in India. Many people, perhaps, will confound this with an uprising of the native population of India itself. That would be wrong. The Afridis are a certain tent and warlike tribe, numbering some 27,000 fighting men and inhabiting the mountains between Kohat Peshawar, both of which places are on the border between India and Afghanistan and equidistant from the Kyber pass—about forty miles. They are in no sense subjects of Great Britain, but own nominal allegiance to the Ameer of Afghanistan. Practically, however, they obey no laws but their own. They are robbers first and soldiers afterwards. Already they are said to be quarreling over the booty that has been secured, the fruit of their late uprising.

DR. DAVE SHOW, of Hammond, may be a Calvinist, but he isn't a champ. When the state medical board refused him a license and told him to take down his sign and put up his shingle Dr. Dave didn't get mad and cuss the state law. He knew just what was necessary to know where he was at. Being on the top of a heap of nine govern ments of medicine-making bunco and having learned to make pills in a Chinese one-shop five hundred years old, Dr. Dave had not only sacred ancestral traditions to support, but he had the reputation of an old master to hold up. And he did both. Dr. Dave was up to snuff. Just how he was a pill-roller, or a gas strangulator, or a street car magnate and he had seen just one of the ways to begin coming the earth was: Get an examination against the state medical board, which he did. Then it is that Dr. Dave continues to peddle pills and measure chests just as he did back in the land where for two centuries the grand race of kings has been hand in hand with the undertaker down the smooth road of prosperity.

STOPPED BY RAINS,

Thousands of Gold Seekers at Skagway and Dyea.

Steamer Farallone Brings Reports That the Trail Is Impassable Because With Broken Mud Canon.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Sept. 2.—The steamer Farallone arrived last night, six days from Dyea and Skagway. The officers of the steamer tell interesting stories of the condition of affairs at both landings. They say that at Dyea the people are slowly but surely crossing the divide and the road for ten miles up the canyon is strewn with tents, provisions, discarded baggage and dead horses. Less than 1,000 people are on the beach at Dyea, as all make efforts to get across the divide as soon as landed. At Skagway things present a different appearance, there are between 5,000 and 6,000 people at that place. Less than fifty men have succeeded in getting across White Pass and hundreds have given up trying to cross until spring. Steamer officers say rain had fallen continuously three days and that it is utterly impossible to cross. All kinds of business is flourishing. Many men are selling outfits for little or nothing, while others are having everything offered for sale and using the same to stock general mail stores, which they are setting up on the beach. A saloonkeeper at Dyea is buying flour emptying it into a hole in a tent and selling the empty sacks at seventy-five cents each. The Farallone officers deny that a man was killed at Skagway for stealing, but say that in case of theft, death would be the result.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 2.—The steamer Farallone arrived at 1:30 this morning from Skagway, having left there August 26. The Farallone brings confirmation of the reports that the trail has been almost impassible on account of rain and mud. At many places on the trail the mud is from one to four feet deep and men with packs on their backs mire down and have to be pulled out. A letter on the Farallone states that one day last week 100 men sold their outfits at a sacrifice and started back. The Farallone will start on her return to Skagway tonight with about fifty passengers, 153 horses and cattle and about 300 tons of freight.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Sept. 2.—A letter just received from John U. Smith, United States commissioner at Dyea and Skagway, intimates that the government officials now on the way to the upper Yukon may, by their official acts, bring on serious international complications with the dominion government. He says:

"It is announced here by a deputy United States marshal that the United States government is to make claim to a large portion of the Yukon gold fields which have been supposed to be British territory and that the territory which is claimed as being within Alaska, including Dawson City. The basis of the claim to be made by the United States officials to the disputed territory is in the fact that the boundary line has never been determined and the United States authorities are claiming to possess information as to the surveys made by the Canadian government that Ross Dawson City and a large portion of the gold district within Alaska.

THE QUEEN OF CORN.

Globes of flame and disks of a moon,
Rows and rows of ears and more,
Purples and reds in the husks pulled back,

Globes of autumnal ear crescents
Globes to remember the orchard and her fruit,
The thousand things not only sweet to...

Globes of ear moon and globes of sun,
Rest for weary and for the sick of sorrow,
That to remember and remember is long.

Husks piled in the dooryard,
Her children, figures in the husks,
Husks piled in the barn and the passageway,

Late autumn in a cozy part,
Many ears hanging from the rafters, yet,
Abundance of the house and room,

Bed and table and chairs lower,
Corner and passageway clean as hands,
More a dependency of the house,

Last autumn by the late growing grass,
Last time I hear the restless wind in husks,
My wife, the abounding one which and among.

Our beginning piled to the roof,
Of children and me I the last one left,
Most busy and Queen Autumn and M. E.

I think of my grandmother's ear crescents,
Her knitting in peace by the stairway room,
Her stairway, and then of her tranquil ass.

And I wonder sometimes, though I never say,
If all this misery and fuss over a pay
Is worth the while of the ear crescents.

And I know sometimes with a pained hail amongst
For some of my darling's broken ears,
For the joy and peace of my queen of heaven.

Of a queen I in a roadway lane, and then
Every day, we are jealous over queens,
We are faithless, we are unfaithful.

I think, but I say it under my breath,
That I fear my wife will be faithless to death.

—E. F. Bleiler in New York Sun.

A DWARF'S BROTHER.

Miss Stanley was a pink and white English girl, very tall and shapely. The Mexican girls, who ordered out their carriages if they had a block to go, used to look upon her with amazement as she tramped down their strange streets with a fine, swinging, lissom and free gait.

She was picking her way one day among the vendors in the plaza, stopping once in awhile to give some whining beggar or tattered mother only a centavo when she felt her shirt pulled. Looking, she saw a tiny hand held out, and a childish voice piped the usual formula for alms. The little creature was no taller than a child of 4. But the face! It was old and withered. The eyes were sunken and no old! Miss Stanley pulled back the rebozo. The hair was grey.

"A dwarf!" she thought, with a little feeling of repulsion. "How old are you?"

"Fifty-four," piped up the wretching. Then true to her sex: "The priest said I was 56, but I am not. I am only 54." She said her name was Rosita.

Rosita, it appeared, did nearly anything for a living, begging preferably, although that is a name what overcrowded profession in Mexico. Sometimes she sold chick ens or vegetables on a commission. She had another source of income, being pensioner on the bounty of a young man, a centavo a week, but she confessed sadly he made her jump for the coin, and if he held his arm out straight she might jump in vain; she could not reach it.

"The brute!" said Miss Stanley. Rosita did not know the meaning, but she looked big, pleased. That was good. The English lady was taking an interest in her, for the expletive sounded profane, and profanity from a feminine source indicated strong emotion, which she construed favorably.

The poor in Mexico are always hungry, and Miss Stanley, knowing that failing, took Rosita to a little one room restaurant. The menu was confined strictly to Mexican dishes.

Miss Stanley noticed that Rosita put half her dinner to one side, wrapping the corns and frijoles in tortillas. When she came to a dolce of some tropic fruit boiled in a syrup of cane sugar, the little wrinkled eyes looked wistful.

"How can I take some to my little brother?" she asked.

Miss Stanley asked another question, "Is this food you have put away for your brother?"

"Yes," answered Rosita in her squeaky voice. "I take all the care of him. We are alone, and I work for him. He is locked in the room now. See!" And she held up the meagre key peculiar to Mexican doors.

"Why is he locked in?" asked Miss Stanley as she directed the mozo to put the dinner in a couple of cellos for Rosita to take to her brother.

"He has combats with the children in the street, and I am afraid some one will get hurt," she answered.

Miss Stanley watched her trot away laden with the dinner for her brother. So little and so old, unlike many dwarfs, and lucky, indeed fatally than. It was not until she reached her home that Miss Stanley remembered she had not asked how old the "little brother" was.

She often met Rosita after that, sometimes in the garden, where the roses nodded overhead, and violets bloomed underfoot, and the band played softly and sweetly, as Mexican bands do. Rosita would dart from the circling stream of people into the inner circle, where the quality walked under the trees or sat on the iron benches. Miss Stanley could seldom recall Rosita, dirty, badly worked square of drawn work held out by the tiny hand.

Sometimes in the plaza, where the vendors called their various fruits and vegetables with long drawn, wailing cries, Miss Stanley would accidently hear at her elbow the shrill squeak of Rosita as she praised the virtues of an attenuated hen. "Muy gordo, mana—fat—it weigh it in your hand. It is heavy—beyond belief," she would insist, holding up the unattractive bundle of feathers to the "child."

Constance Stanley had no father or mother, and living with a brother who was embarrassing to effect the drainage of "the richest silver mine in the world" she wandered unchecked through the crowded, narrow streets of the old town, with a young cousin her only safeguard. She had often longed to explore a dark street that plunged downward from the paved and civilized one. It was damp and murky, a staircase of stone, with crumbling stone walls two and three stories high. Across the street's narrow width fluttered strings of washing. The women with their red petticoats and blue rebozos, made bright blots of color. The men lolled about, lean and ragged. It reminded her of Naples. The doorways swarmed with babies and dogs, poverty marching always side by side with sheer innocents.

Down she went. The street made an abrupt turn. At the corner she was startled by seeing protruding from a hole cut in a squalid doorway several long, black fingers. They were withdrawn, and she saw as one passed the door two blood shot eyes peering out like beasts' eyes.

"Nana, nana, the good mother of God sent you, and see what gain will be yours." Turning, Miss Stanley beheld Rosita at her heel. She held a plate to refill—coarse, iron stone china plate, chipped and cracked. There was a look of in tense anxiety on her old face, and her wee hands shook as she drew her treasure forth from under her rebozo. The plate was impossible, and Constance, feeling that fact very gently to the attendant, was astonished to see the tears gather and fall over her shrivelled cheeks.

"For two days, señorita, I have not dared unlock that door." And she nodded toward the room portal where the eyes had gleamed and the fingers protruded restlessly. "Little brother has nothing to eat except the few tortillas the poor animal here could give, and many of these go hungry from the sun's coming up until the sun's going down."

Constance sent her servant and Rosita to the plaza for some cooked food, and while she waited she talked in the doorways with Isabita and Lola and Juana. They told her how Rosita worked and starved for her brother.

"How old is he?" asked Constance.

"Quien sabe?" they said.

"Is he a child?" or is he big enough to work for her?" she asked impatiently.

"Ah, he is grandote, but also he is lame, an enamatico. See, that is Jose now who glares from the hole in the door."

Miss Stanley listened to them with that rapt attention we all give to tales of the dead. Deep holes in the earth floor, burrowing like an animal. Sometimes he escaped in that way, and then there was fear in the narrow street, and the police after a bloody fight would drag him shrieking back to the one poor room Rosita called home. She had always yet food through the door to him before venturing to open it.

Once for a long time he had not renounced the peace of the street. That was when he killed the señora. A policeman had found him as he peered from the hole in the door, much as people tease a hyena snarling in a cage. The mad have uncommon force, for Jose, one night when the moon was big crept softly about the dark room and, finding the key Rosita's small cunning had hidden, opened the door, crept again softly up the street to an adobe doorway where was sleeping a señora, his head on his breast. The police have a day and a night shift, but one can not expect a madman to know everything. So it was an innocent man who had his neck wrung as the cook does a chicken's. They could only guess what then happened. There were only the pulsing stars looking silently down and the great calm moon. However, it was evident he must have dragged and worried and teased that poor piece of clay for God knows how far or long.

They found him asleep by the dead senora, and, although too poor for in the "Land of the Noonday Sun" to unmake or chain, they took the precaution to tie with stout maguey rope Jose's slumbering bulk before six of the largest policemen would venture to carry him to the cuartel. People of Jose's kind are treated with deference in Mexico. So after some time the man was sent back for the dwarf to feed and care for, and Rosita's face took on more wrinkles each day.

By the time Rosita returned with the food Constance, who understood spanish very well, had heard much of the "little brother."

She declined to look through the peephole at him ravening over his dinner like a wild beast. Followed by Rosita's wordy gratitude, she climbed to the top of the street and there met Mr. Dysart.

Mr. Dysart had but lately risen from the following letter:

DEAR BOY:—Tod Sloan I am looking after the holiday business in grand shape. Business pretty fair. I went to the governor's ball last night. Only one English and three Americans in the party. Every boy knows Buck Stanley, so Tommy Tom a song at the three men. She's a pretty good actor. Tell Bob if he can get that horse reasonably to buy him. Look out for Tod's nose. Don't let the old duffer from Indianapolis get you into a game. R. S. is all the "old boy." That Stanley boy was down here and wishes him a good poker crap. Love to dad and yourself. TOMMY.

After Tom Dysart had evolved this characteristic missive from his insides he went out for a swallow of fresh air and to relieve himself of the strain of composition by a long walk.

Constance was very lovely at the dance, in a fast green brocade, with a quantity of creamy old lace. Some crimson poppies were twisted round her ivory shoulders. One or two more of the flaming flowers shone from her pale gold hair. Mr. Dysart completely lost his head over her. As he had a lot of possessions in Ireland among them a rich father and an ancient and honorable ancestry, he could afford to do so.

He was thinking of her as she had looked the night before when suddenly she appeared, with her servant, coming up from a street dark and deep, like a well, for already it was getting dark.

On the strength of being at evil here with her brother, he began with true manly irascibility to take her to task for her imprudence, but Miss Constance tightened up her soft, haughty mouth and, giving him the rear curve of a tweed shoulder to study, led him a chase home.

The house the brother and sister occupied had been Senor Lopez's, but was presented to Dick, together with a mine worth millions, several black eyed girls and what other nothing property Dick might own. However, Dick went most to pay the rent regularly and got Tom on the side from that. The housekeeper was chief of the girls, and Tom had the honor to be considered the grandson of the house. Dick was dead of consumption, and the two survivors had the good luck to be very fond of each other. Tom was a dear boy, and Constance thought the sun rose and set in Dick. It was the best discovery he ever made for his sister and for Dick alike, I fancy, and every night they plunged with the name or rose to fortune over the sacks flour. But Constance divided hers and, contrary to her usual instinct, vanities. She tramped around the dinner table and filthy curses thrown at him in Indian, for she knew it annoyed her. Constance in the world saw him behave, for she knew it annoyed him, and she resented his ex pansion.

"Why don't you like Tony?" Dick would ask. "You know my theory. Connie, that a sparky man like Tom never ties the knot husband."

"Oh, Dick. When we're talking about husbands I think that a man who is utterly dingy and horsy and takes throwing to the authority on yankee or glanders is a very poor companion. To quote your dear Tony, 'we don't rise in the same class.'"

Dick gave an outraged snort. This was one day at luncheon, and Constance, instead of the good cry she pined for, took a walk. She had not seen Rosita for some time, and she turned her steps toward what Mr. Dysart called "those cutthroat dens."

She had never seen the street so deserted. All were taking a siesta, even the dogs. As she reached the sharp corner she heard a thin little shriek full of appeal. She recognized Rosita's voice and ran with her cried as her side into the low open doorway she had before so stealthily avoided.

There, sagging his neck and rolling his bloodshot eyes, was Rosita's "little brother" fled with strong ropes to an iron pin in the wall, but his arms were free, and he stood naked to the waist, a giant in size. He had secured the key and had almost pulled the staple from the wall, but Rosita was clinging to his arm and calling for help. To end fro he swung her as a wolf might a rabbit.

He had the key in his black, cruel hands, and he brought it down on her upturned face. Then again, as Constance rushed forward with a scream on the key fell with a crunch on the little old gray head.

At that moment the pin gave way, for adobe walls are not strong. Constance turned with her hands thrown out wildly. Over Rosita's body the madman tripped with a crash to the earth floor. Just as he fell he caught Constance's gown in his grasp. She fell with him and, falling, knew the room had filled with a clattering crowd, and that Tony Dysart, smooth shaven and blond, loomed above all.

Constance, with the help of her friends, got out in the street, where she listened with beating heart to the cries, curses and scuffling going on inside.

There was one dominating, awful groan, then a sinister silence.

A moment of sickening uncertainty for that international young English woman, and Tony Dysart, panting, his clothes torn and blood stains on his face and hands, came out.

He walked firmly enough to give Constance a helping arm up the stairs.

He said Rosita was dead, and he thought the "little brother" would die also, for while he was struggling with him a policeman had crept up and struck him over the head with a heavy iron bar.

"Here we are at the Casa Stanley," she said as they stopped before the carved doors. "Come in. Dick will want to see you. He can thank you best of all."

"No one can thank me like you," Tony replied. "And I must go to the hotel. This area of mine pains a little. No, not broken," he answered, trying to smile, "but little brother' wrenched it a trifle."

Constance, however, would not accept his easy assurance that it was all right. "You must come in. Dick will want you."

"Do you want me, though?" She did not answer that, but as she let the knocker fall turned with tears in her eyes.

"Will you come, Tony?"

"I will come," he insisted, "if you want me."

The big doors swung open

"I want you," she said slowly.

And the doors clanged behind them.—Edith Wagner in San Francisco Argonaut.

Are There Greeks to Greece?

I am unable for one to accept the theory that the modern Greeks are in any real sense either the true representatives of the ancient Greek race or the repository of its traditions. There are more true Greeks in Constantinople itself than in the whole of Kingsthorge's realm; almost as many in Smyrna. The people leat traces everywhere—not to enter into the disputed question of the homeric origin of the Greeks of old—of the supremacy of the Turks for 400 years of modern history. The Albanian element is also different far and wide. And if there be, as there unquestionably is left in Athens a remnant of the Greek spirit, it is shown less in arts—of in arms—than in the surest and the dearest for "some new thing" who S. St. Paul, in common with the best minds of ancient Greece, intrigued and deplored. They spend their time in nothing else," said the apostle of the gentiles, "than discussing or inventing the news of the day."

They live in a perpetual fever of what a British tar the day of my several called "jaw." "Murder most foul" flashes from their eyes as they dispute the simplest propositions. Gestures of physical intimidation accompany such a statement as that the Greek feet is more powerful if smaller, than that of the Turks. Barnebe and half a dozen talking to-

There is no reason but the most perfect health. Every woman ought to be perfect now, and the blood matters through the veins to the cheek ought to be rich and crimson. Just now thin blood is truly worth its weight in gold. But the blood must be kept pure, or all of its elements are soon thin and watery. The body then apparently has enough blood, but there is not enough nourishment in it. The body then is poorly supplied with blood, and the whole system suffers. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich, pure blood. It is the best blood maker known to medical science. It is the best tonic for the whole system. It is the best appetizer. It is the best nerve restorative. It is the best flesh builder. It is the best strength builder. It is the best cure for weak lungs, spitting of blood, severe coughs, bronchitis, asthma, and all kindred affections. It is the best remedy for all forms of scrofula, even to the worst sores, boils, carbuncles, eruptions, and even consumption (which is scrofula of the lungs). It is the best remedy for all diseases caused by bad blood, or by a torpid liver, or by impure blood. William H. Gaskins Promoted in His Chosen Occupation.

Wabash Road Foreman of Engines on the Fort Worth and Denver City Road—News of the Shops and Yard.

One of the rising young railway men of this country is undoubtedly William H. Gaskins, son of Mrs. Catherine Gaskins, of West Creighton avenue, who yesterday assumed the office of road foreman of engines of the Fort Worth and Denver City road, a Texas line of considerable importance.

Mr. Gaskins' railway career dates from 1882, when he entered the service of the Wabash company as an apprentice in the shops in this city. After completing his apprenticeship, he worked in the same shop as a journeyman machinist a few years, when he went south. Six years ago he located in Clarendon, Texas, and took a position as fireman on the Fort Worth and Denver City road and continued to serve in that capacity about four years, when the officials, recognizing his ability, promoted him to engineer and gave him a regular run. Two years later we find him in the responsible position mentioned above, with fair prospects of further promotion in the near future.

Mr. Gaskins was born and reared in this city and no young man was better known nor more highly esteemed than he for several years prior to his removal to Texas. He was a charter member of the Rifles and was one of its lieutenants. The Fort Wayne friends of the young man rejoice in his good fortune and sincerely hope that the advancement in his chosen occupation may continue until it places him in the highest position.

A BIG CONTRACT.

President M. E. Ingalls, of the Big Four and the Cleveland and Ohio railroads, has concluded a contract with the Pullman Palace Car company to construct as early as possible 2,000 box freight cars—1,000 each for the Big Four and the Chesapeake and Ohio, at a cost of $1,000,000.

A FEW WAGON LOAD.

Yesterday's Toledo Blade contained the following: "Grand reports circulate in Wall street concerning that the Wabash Road is about to conclude a traffic arrangement with the Lake Shore, and Nickel Plate companies which will be largely profitable to it. Wabash traffic is to be delivered, so far as the management can direct, to the Vanderbilt trunk lines, and the Wabash in return is to get freight rolls bigger than any hitherto it has been able to obtain from those systems. One of the best paying freight expenses of the New York Central and Lake Shore is, according to the report current, to be given to the Wabash from Toledo south."

WHITTEKER'S FUNERAL.

Friendship Lodge No. 70, I. A. M., held a special meeting last night and completed arrangements for the funeral of their late brother, George Schlenker, who will be buried Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of that order. The union members are requested to meet at the hall at 1:30, from whence they will march to the electric works, where they will be joined by the members of the Relief union and then continue the march to the late residence of the deceased, No. 111 Taylor street, where the funeral services are to be held at 2:30 o'clock. The pall bearers have been selected from the ranks of the orders mentioned, Charles Sandersland, Augustus Kaye and F. J. Singleton representing the Machinists' union and William Schultz, Charles A. Agster and A. S. Hemsteck representing the Relief Union.

SHOP MENTION.

Nickel Plate Engineer Henry Studer is sick and off duty.

Louis Neuperk, foreman of the tin department of the Wabash shops, left yesterday for Quebec, Canada, in the hopes that the climatic change will be of physical benefit to him. He is badly afflicted with hay fever.

C. H. Pratt, the Pittsburg fireman, is sick and off duty.

Blacksmith Ed Meanewirth, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

Sick-nesse keeps Blacksmith Henry Dreyer from his work in the Pittsburg shops.

Brakes Superintendent W. S. Turner, of the Wabash, was in the city yesterday.

The electric works this morning sent a 30-horse power motor to Hamilton, Ohio.

Engine No. 529 was brought here yesterday from the eastern division of the Pittsburg road for repairs.

M. H. Morrison, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is taking a rest, pending repairs to his steam boat racer.

Machinist William O'Connor reported at the Pittsburg shops for duty this morning. He was married last Tuesday.

Engine 44 has been turned out of the Grand Rapids shops and is in service again between this city and Grand Rapids.

Superintendent of Motive Power G. L. Potter will leave this evening for New York on business for the Pennsylvania company.

Will Hayes, a hammer boy in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, is suffering with inflammation of the eyes, which keeps him from his work.

A telegram last evening announced C. M. Jones, of the Pittsburg freight office, to Canandaigua, where his father is lying dangerously ill.

William Bordy, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, and his family will go to Indianapolis next Saturday to spend a few days with Mr. Bordy's brother.

George J. Wirth, a telegrapher in the Pennsylvania offices, resumed work this morning, after a ten days' vacation, which he passed with relatives in northern Ohio.

The relief department of the electric works held a meeting last night and decided to attend the funeral of the late George Schlenker in a body next Saturday afternoon.

A traveling crane has been erected in the fit wheel department of the Base works, to facilitate the handling of the massive pieces which receive the finishing touches there.

Assistant General Yardmaster James Haskell, of the east yards, is suffering from hay fever and will try the climate about Petoskey for relief. He left for the north this morning.

J. W. Hoad, a Grand Rapids and Indiana brakeman, had two fingers pinched between the draw bars last night and will be laid up for a week or two. The accident happened at Portland.

James Cherry, a clerk in the Illinois Central offices in Chicago, is spending his annual vacation with his father, William Cherry, the well known boilermaker in the Pittsburg shops.

Foreman P. J. Scheid, of the Pittsburg round house, is expected home this evening. After attending the encampment at Buffalo, Mr. Scheid went to Lancaster, Pa., to visit his mother.

F. D. Casamate, superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania railroad, arrived in the city this morning and will be the guest of old friends two or three days. He is a welcome visitor here.

C. W. Marsh, Pittsburg engineer, resumed his duties on the road today, after a week's lay-off in order to entertain his sister, whom he had not seen for nearly twenty years until her visit to this city.

F. S. Hunting, chief of the engineering department of the electric works, has returned from the east, where he took the remains of his father for interment in the family burial lot at the old home.

James T. Leary, chief motive power clerk of the Pennsylvania north western system, is taking a short vacation, during which he will visit Chicago, Indianapolis, Louisville and Pittsburg, returning here next Monday.

One of the largest men in the employ of the Pennsylvania road is now laying off is D. D. Hunter, a fireman, who yesterday became the papa of a twelve pound daughter. This is owing he distributed a number of cigars among the railway men and other friends in honor of the new arrival, aiming to slight nobody. Mr. Hunter resides at 109 Barr street, where those not receiving cigars will find them awaiting them.

Local Engineer George Quilter, of the Nickel Plate, is taking a few days' rest.

The Michigan division of the Big Four on Sunday carried 1,500 excursionists into Benton Harbor.

Wash Frase, Nickel Plate engineer, has taken a lay off to go squirrel hunting out in Whitley county.

It is stated that nearly as large a per cent of the employes on the Chesapeake and Ohio own stock of that road as on the Illinois Central.

The Vandalia has a contract to haul 300 carloads of city from Staunton to Terre Haute, to be used on the Terre Haute Treating association track.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana company has taken off its cottagers' train between this city and Bone City, there being no further necessity for such a service.

Firemen C. Davidson and Frank Longsworth, of the Nickel Plate, are taking a vacation. The latter has gone to Fostoria, Ohio, to spend ten days with his relatives.

Nickel Plate engine 171 has gone to the Stony Island shops for a general overhauling and when the work is done, she will go into service on one of the eastern districts.

William Rubeck has returned from Wooster, Ohio, where he spent several days with his mother. Mr. Rubeck is a brakeman on the Nickel Plate. He reported for duty yesterday.

Brakeman Fred Wolf resumed his duties on the Nickel Plate yesterday, after a few days' absence. George Driver, also a brakeman on that road, is now taking a lay off of a few days.

Engineer J. A. Swartz, of the Nickel Plate, is making a tour of the towns in the northern part of the state on his bicycle. He expects to be absent from home for two or three days.

J. A. Bratton, car service superintendent of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, has retired from that position on account of ill health. He has been with that company in official position many years.

It is stated that while S. R. Calloway, as president of the Lake Shore, will likely introduce a new economies in its operation, the report that he will make a number of official changes has no foundation.

Berman Lowenstein, a member of the night gang in the Base block south shop, had two fingers of his right hand badly pinched last night by getting them under a slab of iron. He will be off duty a few days.

Superintendent P. S. O'Rourke, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, and his wife have returned from Petoskey, where they spent about two months. The sojourn there was very beneficial to the superintendent's health, which previously had been quite poor.

E. A. Rider, master mechanic of the Base works, who has been in the mining districts in the west in the interest of the company since last march, will return here some time the present month. He will probably be accompanied by E. J. Fisher, also of the Base works, who has been on the Pacific coast for two or three weeks.

Indianapolis Journal: "A local passenger official who watches business very closely has discovered that of the average nine hundred Sunday excursionists carried from Indianapolis to Cincinnati at the one dollar-a-round-trip rate one hundred and fifty do not return—that is, they buy tickets to Cincinnati so as to panic beyond. This he has discovered by noting the number of return tickets reported."

F. J. Zerbee, who succeeded C. H. Dasher as master mechanic of the Michigan division of the Big Four system of railroads two years ago, has been transferred to the St. Louis division, with headquarters at Mattoon, Ill. This division is a much more important one than the one over which Mr. Zerbee has presided for some time. At Wabash he is succeeded by W. F. Orland, formerly of the Cincinnati.

Leading railroads to the number of 100 have been summoned to appear before the inter-state commerce commissioners at Kansas City on September 4 to answer charges of the American Wagon-fare company that they are furnishing free mileage to coal mine owners, contrary to the law prohibiting the granting of concessions. The case is the same as that begun in Chicago early in the summer and in the course of which a great deal of evidence was taken.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois has just closed a contract with the Pittsburg locomotive works for five freight locomotives, to be the heaviest run in this part of the country. The engines will weigh 172,000 pounds, with 142,000 pounds over the driving wheels, and will have twenty-by twenty-six inch cylinders. The fire box will be ten feet six inches long and the boiler will have six feet and will carry 200 pounds of steam. The tender will be of the 6,000 gallon capacity. The engines are to be turned out at present time into heated cars from Louisville to Chicago. The new engines are guaranteed to haul seventy five loaded cars.

BAD WRECK.

A Train Plunges Through a Building

The Passenger Instantly Killed and Several Others Have a Narrow Escape.

Cincinnati, Sept. 2.—South bound vestibuled train No. 4 on the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Southern railroad, which left Cincinnati at 11 o'clock this morning, was wrecked at 12 o'clock. About seven miles south of this place Mrs. J. H. Mcmillan, of Philadelphia, who had been visiting her daughter-in law at Glenn Haven, was killed and a number of others injured. Near the intersection of Bradley's Mills the train left the track on the west side, a point a few feet north of the passenger station. The Pullman car next to the last express left the track and plunged into one corner of the building. The passenger cars were crushed and the occupants were thrown in a promiscuous mass.

Supt. A. H. Schmutz, who was among the passengers, was bruised and wrenched, but not seriously hurt. Following is a list of the most seriously injured and of the passengers:

Brakeman Neil, ten years old, fatally injured.

Mrs. Connell, Scranton, badly hurt.

Daughter of Mrs. Connell, cut about face.

Mrs. De Bergere, Wilkesberre, left side and face bruised.

The list of dead was forced off its foundation.

IS OUT OF MONEY.

The City of Toledo in a Grave Financial Situation.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 2.—The city funds are completely exhausted and the city employees will probably be paid off in orders for many days to come. The embarrassed state of affairs is due to a falling off of $150,000 in the taxes. The delinquency is attributed to a law passed at the last legislature allowing taxpayers to draw at least part in which to pay their 1887 taxes.

What to do is a problem that puzzles the city officials. Mayor Tracy says he is using the official hatchet right and left. The heads of one third of the patrolmen of the police force have been severed and five engines of the fire department will be handed up.

WONDERFUL!

A Christian Physician Who Tries to Make Men Better in Body and Soul.

Address by Prof. Hyatt, Minister and Lecturer, No. 8 Smith, No. 107 Jackson street, Detroit.

It is doubtful if the columns of any newspaper in the state ever recorded a more wonderful restoration of health than that of Mrs. A. J. Augustine as a result of a medical treatment by Dr. S. B. Smith, of Fort Wayne. Her attorney informs us that he "considers it a privilege to also certify to the cure, as I have had a knowledge of it, and have gained sixteen and one half pounds in four months. I advise every one who has Catarrh to give your medicine a trial."

Hemorrhage of the Lungs Cured.

Miss Anna Schoph, who resides at 103 W. Superior St., says: "It is with great pleasure in naming the following cure of me. All my life I have been afflicted with a bronchial cough. A year ago I had a hemorrhage of the lungs. Since that time for months I have been troubled with hemorrhages. I was advised by a friend to use your New Asthma and Cough Cure. I commenced taken four bottles of the remedy. I have no more soreness in my lungs and the hemorrhages have ceased. I cannot say enough in the praise of your medicine.

Signed, ANNA SCHOPH.

Had Asthma for Twenty Years.

The Wayne Medical Company, Room 3 Schmitz Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear Sirs:—I had Asthma for twenty years. I treated with physicians in St. Louis and in other cities, and have used many remedies, but never received any relief that ever until I recommended the use of your New Asthma and Cough Cure. Before I had used one bottle I received great relief, and after having used four bottles I am entirely cured. I am happy to recommend your remedy to all who are suffering from Asthma. Yours truly, Mrs. John Reinecke, Decatur, Indiana.

HAY FEVER.

It Can be Cured by Hirons' Double Treatment.

Cured of Hay Fever Thirteen Years—Letters and Testimonials—Complaint.

Hay Fever or Hay Asthma are often called a constitutional disease. Hirons' Double Treatment is a constitutional remedy. The first treatment acts on the nerves of the nasal passages, relieving all the irritation, frequently the swelling, pressure and suffering. The great discomfort and suffering, and nothing of the loss of time caused by this terrible disease, may be avoided by using Hirons' Double Treatment, which is a safe and permanent cure. Commence using the medicine at once, and put your system in condition to resist the effect of those changes upon the mucous membrane, thereby keeping the tissues in a healthy condition.

A Hay Fever Victim Made Happy.

Wayne Medical Co., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Gentlemen:—I have been afflicted with Hay Fever in the most painful manner for years. The first attack would appear in June lasting August and September my suffering were intense. Water would run from my eyes and nose, the paroxysms of sneezing were an exhausting, and I had terrible burning pains in my head. I heard of your Double Treatment for Catarrh and Hay Fever and procured it at once. After having used three bottles of the remedies I was entirely cured. I heartily endorse your valuable medicine, and believe all Hay Fever sufferers ought to give it a trial.

Yours truly,
ANDREW LEIPP, 79 Hanna St.
Fort Wayne, Ind.

CATARRH.

What the Resident Manager of the Chicago Newspaper Union has to Say

The Wayne Medical Company, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Gentlemen:—Your Mr. A. R. Hirons persuaded me to give your Double Treatment for catarrh a trial, and after having used it about 25 days I can honestly say that the results have been very satisfactory. I have been a sufferer from this disease since childhood, and was so bad at times that the membrane would bleed constantly. By the use of your medicine I have stopped the bleeding, my head is greatly relieved, and I believe I am entirely cured. Yours truly,
CHARLES D. TELLO.

Cured of Catarrh.

The Wayne Medical Company, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear Sirs:—I am twenty-eight years old, had Catarrh all my life. For years my appetite was bad. I could not sleep well. I was becoming deaf. The disease in my head became so bad that one could hear it breathe in the room. I was given it all up, the disease was falling me by inches. I heard of your Double treatment for Catarrh and began the use of the medicine at once. After using eight bottles of your remedies, I am happy to say, I have a good appetite, I sleep well, my deafness is cured, and I have gained sixteen and one half pounds in four months. I advise every one who has Catarrh to give your medicine a trial.

About 100 pews are given away to the saving power of the Lord Jesus Christ. Dr. Henry W. Brunsels will preach tonight. The public is earnestly invited to attend.

Max Wittengreater, who for about seventeen years has been in the employ of the City Carriage works, has resigned his position and has entered into partnership with Messrs. Theodore Harper, Walt Lyman and Frank Long in the Wayne Buggy company, of 49 East Columbia street. Mr. Wittengreater is an artist in his line, that of a carriage painter, and his hosts of friends will wish him success in his new enterprise.

Last evening, at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. L. L. Hanson performed the ceremony which united in marriage, Prof. Watson Nicholson, of Redland, Cala., and Florence E. Beaver, daughter of M. G. Beaver, of this city. The wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate relatives being present. The bride was well known in the city, having been connected with the public schools in Redland, where the couple have gone to make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kreitzer, of 227 East Jefferson street, held a reception last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Godman, of Lovina, Cal., and Miss Cornelia Wilmer, of Colorado City. The decorations of the parlor were nasturtiums and asparagus vine. The dining room was fragrant with blossoms of sweet peas. Music and cards were the features of the evening. At 11 o'clock a six course supper was served.

Mayflower conclave, tribe of Red Men, held its adoption at the meeting last night. Preliminary arrangements were made for a "big run" some time in the latter part of the month. Invitations from the tribe located in Van Wert, to attend a meeting in that city on September 23 was also laid before the local lodge and was accepted. Minnewah council of Pocahontas, an auxiliary of the Red Men, also made two adoptions at its last meeting.

Wild Mr. Alloway and the stalking hoodoo of the same old form of errors in the field were the most considerable factors in the downfall of the Fort Wayne at New Castle yesterday. Mr. Alloway's erratic box work and loose fielding got into conjunction in the inning and when it was all over and the dust settled eight scores were chalked up for New Castle. Patterson, the amateur recently acquired by the Fort Waynes, relieved Alloway and the Pennsylvania were unable to do much with his delivery. Fort Wayne should have won on the merits of their hitting, for hits were secured when they counted and the ball was binged for four home runs, but the foul taken by New Castle in the first inning was too great to be overcome.

NOTES.

Mansfield is delighted with Lally's umpiring.

There was that same old quartet of errors again yesterday.

Three home runs in a game ought to net something for the club standing as well as for batting records. But they didn't.

The Youngstown Telegram has arrived at the point where it is in doubt whether the team can play good ball or not.

John L. Sullivan wants to make some dates for umpiring in the Inter-State league before the close of the present season.

Yesterday it was not Patterson who was struck, but Alloway. Well, Mr. Alloway's feelings must be growing callous to that sort of treatment.

Mansfield News: "Fort Wayne has signed a new pitcher named Patterson. If Patterson is a success Fort Wayne may be able to knock Youngstown out of fourth place—home of the Fort Wayne jumpers should get new base ball editors. The men they have now are not in the game—Fred Crooks is now playing shortstop for Fort Wayne. Crooks is a good all around man if he didn't make a success at Cleveland."

A Youngstown dispatch says that Umpire Keefe, who is acknowledged as one of the most competent officials in the business, will, after seven years of service, retire with the completion of the present Inter-State league season. It is possible that Keefe will go to the Western league next season.

FATAL TYPHOID.

It Reaps a Harvest of Death at Baldwin.

Dr. Pressler, of the County Health Board, Returns From the Ravaged Region—Eight Cases Now.

Dr. Pressler has returned from the typhoid-infected hamlet of Baldwin, which lies at the eastern extremity of the county on the Flat Rock line of the Fort Wayne and Western railroad. He reports that there are at present only eight cases of the disease, but that the sanitary condition of the place is very bad. The number of cases reported for the summer was forty-five, of which many were of a fatal character. A physician all cases being attended by doctors from Monroeville and Huron. The visit of Dr. Pressler was an official one as secretary of the Allen county board of health. He has instructed Township Trustee Keller to proceed at once to improve the sanitary condition of the town and this move, it is hoped, will stamp out the disease.

There will be a special meeting of Shiloh chapter, O. E. S., this evening to confer degrees.
